Hamid Moghadam

Hi. I'm Hamid Moghadam, the CEO and Chairman of AMB Property Corporation.

Walter Rakowich

And I'm Walt Rakowich, the CEO of ProLogis.

Hamid Moghadam

We are here to talk about why we are merging our two companies. We have the opportunity to build a preeminent industrial real estate company on a global scale. We can service our customers better, provide better products for investors and create a great deal of shareholder value. We think we'll have unparalleled access to opportunities around the globe.

Walter Rakowich

So let's talk a little bit about the plan for the new company. First thing we've got to do is align our asset base, the portfolio of properties that we own, into core markets. And as we do that, better serve the needs of our customers. The second thing we want to do is better utilize the assets that we have. We've got land that we can build out and develop and, in addition to that, we have a development portfolio that still needs a little bit of leasing but is on the goal line. And we plan to better utilize that asset base in the course of the next few years. In addition to that, we've got a terrific, private capital business that is $26 billion today but can be even a better private capital business. And as we grow, you'll see the growth in that business taking shape. We also want to build one of the top balance sheets in the industry. And you'll see that in the years ahead. And finally, we've got an incredible talent pool of people and we're going to utilize those people effectively and efficiently throughout the world as we grow our operations.

Hamid Moghadam

Well, one of the things that makes me very excited about this combination is that our portfolios fit together very nicely. We have a significant presence in North America, as does ProLogis. We have a modest presence in Europe where they are deep. And the combined platforms are scaled; it enables us to get to efficient scale very quickly. In particular, our presence in the UK and Central and Eastern European economies is very small at the moment and by combining with ProLogis, we can expand our business and serve our customers better in those areas. On the other hand, we have a big presence in China and a growing presence in Brazil, where ProLogis is not active. So by putting the two companies together, we can serve about 78% of the global economy, and do it tomorrow.

Walter Rakowich

In addition to that, the economy is growing. And the nice thing about this is that our customers are coming to us today and they are talking about growth. Last year, in the United States, we saw three consecutive quarters of positive absorption. That means the economy is growing again. And, in addition to that, rents are beginning to flatten out, and in some markets, rents are actually beginning to rise again. And we see nothing but good ahead there. So, it's a great time to be combining these companies because the market is growing and we think we are going to be in a great position to take advantage of that growth ahead.

Hamid Moghadam

Now the question is: How are we going to make all of this happen? You should know that we are going to operate our businesses separately and independently until this transaction closes, which is expected to be in the middle of this year. But during this period of time, we are going to continue the work that we've been doing together for the last three or four weeks, in putting together the management structure that's going to take this company forward. We've already made many of the decisions about management that's critical. We believe we have a world-class team leading this business and we can't wait to put them on the field as a combined company to serve the needs of our customers even better.

Walter Rakowich

Well, and we'll also be talking to our private capital partners. If you look at it, we've got a tremendous opportunity to grow with investors, with private capital investors throughout the world. Both of us, that was a complimentary business. Both of us were in that business and both of us look at that as sort of a key growth component of our businesses. So, that was complimentary. We plan to offer a wide range of products throughout the world as we grow and we look forward to being partners with the major institutional partners that we deal with today.

Hamid Moghadam

Well, Walt, in closing I want to tell you that this is one of the most exciting moments of my business career. The opportunity to be able to work with you and your team and to build the greatest real estate company on a global scale is something that doesn't come around that often. And I'm just really excited to be part of it.

Walter Rakowich

Hamid, I've known you for twenty years and I'm really, really looking forward to being a partner of yours.
